

Embody research

Client: Gimme Care Date: 2026-08-17 Competitor: Embody / joinem.co

Focus: $126/mo × 3 SKU framing

They frame $126/mo in Shopping, the PDP, and the plan picker — then charge the 3-month total ($378) at checkout. Legally it is a monthly auto-renewing subscription, not a one-time purchase.

The Shopping card and PDP never show $378. The 3-month plan button never shows $378. Only the order summary / Pay line does.

Why this matters for Gimme

Shopping is Gimme's #2 campaign. Showing a `$x/month × 3` SKU in the feed has been a challenge — Gimme LPs historically hero the full 3-month total (e.g. $469 tirz). Embody keeps the monthly number as the only large price from ad → PDP → plan card, and only reveals the prepaid total in the last block of checkout.

Target CPA is $400. If Gimme can match this display pattern, Shopping cards can compete on $163/mo (tirz) / $130/mo (sema) without putting $489 / $390 in the merchant price field.

1. Shopping ad

Live Google Shopping card for Embody compounded tirzepatide. Title includes "3 Month". Price shown is $126.00/mo, not the 3-month total. Free shipping.

Google Shopping card for Embody Compounded Tirzepatide at $126.00/mo

00 — Shopping card: $126.00/mo · title "Compounded Tirzepatide Injection - Buy Online, 3 Month..." · merchant Embody · Free shipping.

2. Product page

Landing URL: <https://joinem.co/products/compounded-tirzepatide-glp-1-gip-copy-2>

Same number as the ad. Hero is $126.00. Qualifier in caps: PER MONTH FOR A 3 MONTH SUPPLY. Promo bar: "SAVE $230 EVERY MONTH". CTA: Buy it now → </pages/begin?>

landing_type=pdp .

Embody PDP showing $126.00 per month for a 3 month supply

01 — PDP: $126.00 + "per month for a 3 month supply". No $378 on this page.

3. Intake quiz (no SKU prices)

Walked as CA demo persona (Jane Demo, 5'5", 220 lbs, goal 155, not on GLP-1). Medical questions do not show $126 or $378.

One interstitial teases generic "GLP1 medication & cold shipping for just $79/month" — a lower teaser, not the tirz 3-month SKU.

Embody great-fit interstitial with $79/month teaser

03 — "You're a great fit" interstitial. Medication framed as $79/month. CTA: I'm Ready. Let's Go.

Later they split users on Affordability vs Potency. We took Potency (stronger dose) so checkout recommended tirzepatide — matching the Shopping SKU.

07 — Medication match: Affordability (lowest price) vs Potency (stronger dose). Potency → tirz recommendation.

4. Subscription is locked in before checkout

Lead-capture checkbox, before any plan is selected:

"I agree to the Telehealth Consent, Terms & Conditions, and Privacy Policy, and understand that I am enrolling in a subscription that automatically renews monthly unless I cancel."

09 — Medical profile + eligibility. Subscription auto-renew language is in the consent checkbox.

5. Product selection at checkout

MEDICATION	CARD COPY	NOTE
Semaglutide	Flat rate at $69/month $299	Most popular / cheapest teaser
Tirzepatide	Flat rate at $119/month $349	$119 is the 12-month teaser, not the Shopping $126

Duration picker headline: One Month At A Time - or Lock In Long Term Savings.

PLAN	BUTTON COPY	SUPPLY
Monthly	$129/mo flat forever · $349/mo	4 weeks · default before we clicked 3-month
3-Month (Most Popular)	$126/mo flat forever · $349/mo	12 weeks · this is the Shopping SKU
6-Month	$123/mo flat forever · $349/mo	24 weeks
12-Month	$119/mo flat forever · $349/mo	48 weeks

The $126/mo Shopping price is the 3-month card hero. They never put "$378" on that button. Default selection was monthly ($129 due today) until we clicked 3-month.

10 — Full checkout (scroll). Treatment cards + duration picker. 3-month button: $126/mo flat forever $349/mo.

6. What they actually charge for the 3-month plan

After selecting the 3-month tirz plan, the review block still heroes monthly, then the table charges the prepaid total:

- Headline: "Tirzepatide Injection for only $126/month forever"
- Line: Tirzepatide Injection · 3 Month Plan · $378
- Subtotal $1,047 · Forever Discount –$669 · Total $378
- $$378 = \126×3 . List math: $$349 \times 3 = $1,047$; $$1,047 - $378 = $669$ "saved every 3 months"

13 — 3-month selected. Hero still $126/month forever. Order total $378. Stopped before card entry.

Display vs charge

SURFACE	LARGE PRICE	3-MONTH TOTAL SHOWN?
Google Shopping card	$126.00/mo	No
PDP	$126.00 per month for a 3 month supply	No
Quiz / interstitial	$79/month teaser (generic)	No
Lead capture	—	No — subscription checkbox only
Treatment cards	$119/mo tirz / $69/mo sema	No (list $349 / $299)
3-month plan button	$126/mo flat forever	No
Order summary / Pay	$126/month forever (headline)	Yes — $378 total

What Gimme should copy

1. Keep $163/mo (tirz) / $130/mo (sema) as the only large price on Shopping LPs and 3-month intake cards. Do not hero $489 / $390 there.
2. Put billed-today in small type on the card and in the order summary only — Embody's pattern: "$126/mo flat forever" on the button, $378 on Total.
3. Do not put the 3-month total in the Shopping feed price field if the goal is a $x/mo card. Embody's feed/PDP is monthly; checkout does the prepaid math.
4. Legal wrapper can still be a subscription (Gimme already is). Embody discloses auto-renew at lead capture, then talks "flat forever / cancel anytime" on checkout.

Watch the bait: treatment cards say tirz "$119/month" (12-month teaser) while Shopping/PDP/3-month card say $126/mo and checkout charges $378. Default duration before we clicked was monthly at $129 due today — not the 3-month SKU from the ad.
